Secretary Elkins Will Not be a Candidate for Governor.

THE ISSUE WHICH IS RAISED

Concerning His Eligibility on the Ground of Residence.

WHILE IT HAS NO REAL BASIS.

Might Imperil the Success of the Party--The Experience in the Case of General Goff Shows that the Democratic Party Would, if It Obtained a Majority of the Legislature, Grasp at This Straw to Deplete the Republicans of the Fruit of Their Victory--Mr. Elkins Desires to Leave No Room for Doubt--Some One, He Says, Should Be Named Whose Election Would Leave No Pretext for Cheating Him Out of His Rights--The Letter of a Man Whose Greatest Desire is the Success of the West Virginia Republicans This Year.

Chairman Dawson, of the Republican state committee, last night received the following:

WASHINGTON, July 20, 1892.

DEAR SIR:--My name has been frequently mentioned in the public press in connection with the Republican nomination for governor at the approaching convention, and having received a number of letters from friends throughout the state on the subject, I deem it just to the party, fair to my friends and all concerned to say to you, and through you to the Republicans of the state, that I will not be a candidate for the nomination.

Among the reasons that have moved me to this conclusion, I desire to mention that the Democratic party in the state has raised the question of my eligibility on the ground of residence. While I am confident that there is no basis upon which to rest this issue, and I know full well that I have been a resident of the state under the constitution long enough to be governor, if elected, I do not think it prudent to put in peril the victory which seems now so well assured to the Republican party by allowing the opposition to set up an issue which in certain events it may have the sole power to decide.

The experience had in the case of our distinguished fellow citizen and gallant leader, Judge Goff, is too recent in the history of state politics to permit the Republican party to enter upon any course wherein there may be a chance of its again being deprived of the fruits of victory. I fear also as the campaign progresses the alleged ineligibility on the part of the opposition might create doubts in the minds of the Republican ticket. For my part I want to leave no room for doubt in the approaching contest. It is widely known that for more than twelve years I have been identified with the state in a business way, and that I have done all I could to advance its material interests, and that during this time I have not only claimed citizenship in the state, but have never voted elsewhere.

Then, again, I have more readily reached the conclusion just stated, and with entire satisfaction, because all know that the Republican party holds within its ranks many able men, under whose leadership the state can be carried, and as to whose residence no question can be raised, and no pretext brought forward for opposing the exercise of the duties of the office of governor or other the election of the candidate that may be nominated.

I feel flattered by the good words and good expressions that have come to me from all parts of the state and am not only grateful but truly thankful for the same, and the manifestation of confidence on the part of my friends.

Yours truly, etc., S. B. ELKINS.

Hon. William M. O. Dawson, Chairman State Central Committee, Wheeling, W. Va.

MICHIGAN REPUBLICANS

Nominate John T. Rich for Governor--The Platform Adopted.

SAGINAW, Mich., July 21.--The event here, otherwise known as convention hall, was packed with delegates at 9 o'clock this morning.

Judge K. J. Kelly, of Alpena, appeared with the report of the committee on credentials seating the regular delegates from Macomb and St. Clair counties.

Delegate Allen, from Washtenaw, moved that the report of the committee be accepted and adopted. After a debate the motion was adopted by an overwhelming vote. The temporary organization was then made permanent.

Chairman Fitzgerald, of the committee on resolutions, then mounted the platform and read the following resolution, which was adopted by the convention rising in silence:

"Resolved--That we express our sincere sympathy with that eminent Republican and statesman, James G. Blaine, in the bereavement he recently suffered in the loss of his son, and express a wish that his life in the future may be as full of honor and usefulness as in the past."

The platform was then adopted unanimously.

It contained among other things: "We, the representatives of the Republican party in convention assembled hereby endorse the nominees of the national Republican convention at Minneapolis and the platform and principles laid down thereby."

"Long sessions of legislature are an unnecessary expense to the public and we condemn the practice, and pledge the people that if the Republican party has control of the next legislature business will be done with fidelity and promptness."

"We condemn the practice of railroad companies in giving passes to and the same being accepted by legislators and other public officials."

"As illustrating the methods and practices of the Democratic party, we call attention to the brazen theft of the senate of this state during its last session by unlawfully and corruptly seating two usurpers in that body by the action of less than a constitutional quorum thereof, thus making it possible to enact the infamous Miner law, the unscrupulous gerrymander of congressional districts and much other legislation which is a disgrace to any civilized people."

Judge Moore, of Lapoe, placed in nomination for governor the name of John T. Rich, of Elba.

John B. Corless, of Wayne, eloquently presented the name of Mayor Hazen S. Pingree, of Detroit. There were several seconds for both candidates, and a motion was offered that the convention proceed to take a ballot for governor. It was carried and the first ballot was then taken. It resulted as follows: Rich 579; Pingree 210; O'Donnell 5; Gardner 1. Total number of votes cast 795; necessary to choose 390.

A motion made by a Wayne county delegate was carried making the nomination of Rich unanimous. Rich was then declared the nominee of the convention for Governor and a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

On reassembling the ticket was completed as follows:

Lieutenant Governor--Hon. J. R. Giddings, of Wexford.

Secretary of State--John W. Jochim, of Marquette.

Auditor General--Stanley W. Turner, of Roscommon county.

Treasurer--J. C. Hambitzer, of Hancock.

Attorney General--Garrett J. Dick, of Ottawa county.

OUR GREAT HOLIDAY.

President Harrison's Proclamation Fixing October 21st for the Celebration of the 400th Anniversary of the Discovery of America--The Schools to be the Central Feature--Let the Flag Float from Every School House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.--The following proclamation was issued this afternoon by the President of the United States of America:

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, By a joint resolution approved June 29, 1892, it was resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, "that the President of the United States be authorized and directed to issue a proclamation recommending to the people the observance in all their localities, of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, on the 21st day of October, 1892, by public demonstration and by suitable exercises in their schools and other places of assembly;"

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America, in pursuance of the aforesaid joint resolution, do hereby appoint Friday, October 21, 1892, the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, as a general holiday for the people of the United States. On that day let the people, so far as possible, cease from toil and devote themselves to such exercises as may best express honor to the discoverer and their appreciation of the great achievements of the four completed centuries of American life.

Columbus stood in his age as the pioneer of progress and enlightenment. The system of universal education is in our age the most prominent and salutary feature of the spirit of enlightenment, and it is particularly appropriate that the schools be made by the people the centre of the day's demonstration. Let the national flag float over every school house in the country and the exercises be such as shall impress upon our youth the patriotic duties of American citizenship.

In the churches and in the other places of assembly of the people, let there be expressions of gratitude to divine Providence for the devout faith of the discoverer and for the Divine care and guidance which has directed our history and so abundantly blessed our people.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

THEY WERE SURPRISED.

What World's Fair Managers Say About the Charges Made by Devlin and Hayes.

CHICAGO, July 21.--The World's Fair managers are somewhat surprised at the reports from Washington regarding the efforts being made by Messrs. Devlin and Hayes, of the Knights of Labor, to bring complaints against the management before the World's Fair committee of the house of representatives.

"Four weeks ago," said Director Lyman J. Gage, "while the two gentlemen were in Chicago, we arranged for a meeting. They wanted us to agree to a minimum scale of wages, arbitration, eight hours and something else. We told them it was impossible to fix a minimum scale, inasmuch as all the contracts for buildings were let nearly a year ago, and the work practically done. They realized it was to late to talk about a minimum scale, and we told them the arbitration and eight-hour demand had long since been granted, and added further that any accredited representative of organized labor was privileged to visit Jackson Park."

"There have been several infractions of the eight-hour agreement. They have been reported to us by the president of the Carpenters' Council, John O'Donnell, and in each instance the directors promptly brought the offending contractor to terms. This we told Mr. Devlin and also assured him the board of directors would welcome any information showing breach of faith by contractors."

John W. Hayes, general secretary-treasurer, and Messrs. A. W. Wright and John Devlin, of the general executive board of the K. of L., to-day in an interview with a United Associated Press reporter detailed the settlement of their difficulty with the World Fair management in connection with organized labor.

The agreement provides that the eight-hour system shall be carried out; that none but citizens and those who have declared their intentions to become such shall be employed; that all disputes are to be settled by arbitration; that representatives of organized labor bodies interested are to be allowed access to the grounds to see that the agreement is carried out and that the labor laws of Illinois and the regulations of Chicago shall be respected by all contractors. The settlement is entirely satisfactory and disposes of our opposition to the proposed grant.

Meeting in Tipperary.

A REAL MYSTERY

Surrounds Affairs at Homestead Just at the Present Time.

CONFERENCE WITH THE GOVERNOR.

But None But Those in the Inner Circle Know What Occurred--Strikers Say the Result Will Be a Speedy Settlement, but the Military Authorities Don't Think So--A Report that Pittston's Political Leg Was Pulled--A Rumor that Hugh O'Donnell Went to New York to Enlist the Offices of the Democrats.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 21.--A secret conference over an hour in length was held this evening between the governor of Pennsylvania, the president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers of America, and the chief legal adviser of the 5,000 striking employees of the Carnegie mills. From almost every aspect of the meeting of the trio was a remarkable one, the results of which it is believed will long form a landmark in the industrial, military and political affairs of the state.

The place of meeting was directly under the battery of Gatling guns, planted on Shanty hill, and immediately in front of the main gateway, through the high board fence and barbed wire enclosing the marvelous array of furnaces, rolls and smokestacks known as the Homestead works. Through the slats of the gate could be plainly seen the spot where the workmen and Pinkertons slaughtered each other.

Governor Pattison did not betray any surprise on catching sight of his two visitors, and with impassive countenance and usual swinging gait he came forward, under the silken white and yellow standard flapping near the door, and threw himself into a camp chair with a nod and hand shake to each of the pair in waiting. Then ensued a minute of painful silence. Much to the relief of everybody, including a score or more of spectators, Mr. A. J. Barr, proprietor of the Pittsburgh Post, who was standing at some distance, also waiting for the governor, put an end to the evident embarrassment on both sides by asking a private audience with the governor.

When it was over, Messrs. Weihe and Brennan were invited to the governor's room. The door was closed and no interruption of any sort was permitted. Neither Governor Pittston, Mr. Weihe or Mr. Brennan would consent to be quoted on any syllable as to the nature of the discussion. It is said, however, that the removal of the troops from Homestead, and the bearings of that matter from each possible standpoint were gone into. The political aspect of such action or its refusal is said to have been touched upon, as well as the contingency in the latter case of a renewal of strikes in the coke region, with the bloodshed that seems inevitable in such an emergency.

After the conference Messrs. Weihe and Brennan explicitly denied that threats of any kind had been made to Governor Pittston. They said that the conference was entirely satisfactory, and were reported to have stated privately to friends that if it proved as satisfactory as they hoped, the whole trouble at the Carnegie mills would soon be at an end. Both took the first train out of Homestead for Pittsburgh.

The best information obtainable as to Governor Pittston's views is that no such rosate view is justified and that come what may, the troops will not be moved till workmen, whether non-union or not, can enter and leave the mills at will unarmed and unharmed.

To-night the strikers were claiming, and apparently with good reason, that notwithstanding the presence of the militia, or how many outsiders may have been taken into the mills, the ranks of the Homestead men were unbroken. Not a single desertion, they asserted, though this was announced to be the last day on which applications to return to work could be made amounted to a triumph which they had scarcely ventured to expect. On the other hand there seems no doubt but that the force inside the mills was materially increased to-day from one source or another, the arrivals amounting, according to one conservative estimate, to one hundred and fifty men.

There has been friction between the people and the militia all over the town today. A picnic was given by Lodge 24, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel workers, on the hill just south of the town, and a party of thirty Hungarian workmen were on their way to the grounds when, it is said, they were somewhat rudely dispersed and turned back by a party of militia. Provost Marshal Green says that he has heard nothing of this episode, which of course have been reported to him, but at the advisory headquarters it was reported that the men were not permitted to proceed along the public road to the picnic grounds. The picnic itself was a very tame affair.

Hugh O'Donnell's trip to New York is the standard mystery of Homestead and everybody is worn out guessing why he went and who he saw. One theory that meets with favor is that he held a conference with ex-President Cleveland and the Democratic national committee, and that Democratic help is to be expected in the Homestead trouble. Mr. O'Donnell to-day is understood to have stated flatly that his visit east had no political complexion, and he would have remained until his work was finished had he not heard of the criminal proceedings instituted against him. Another representative of the Amalgamated Association is going to New York to complete the work, whatever it may be, that O'Donnell left unfinished.

EVENTS OF THE DAY.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 21.--This was the last day of grace allowed by the Carnegie management for the striking steel makers and other employees of the Homestead mills to apply for reinstatement. Scores of the workmen were putting in applications, but it was not at the Carnegie offices. Work was to be had for the asking at the rooms of the Amalgamated Association advisory board and the headquarters of the mechanics and laborers further down the street. Dwyer & Ingle, a firm of railroad contractors, had made a requisition at both places for at least 300 workmen and as many more as wished to come to help grade a new branch of the Pennsylvania line near Millvale, a short distance from Homestead. The boon was readily accepted, chiefly by the unskilled workmen.

The vicinity of the Carnegie offices presented a more deserted appearance than ever. What seemed to be mainly worrying the strikers was a desire to have Hugh O'Donnell, Ross and other leaders for whom warrants are out not give the Pinkertons or the steel company's officials the satisfaction of making arrests, the idea being, if possible, to have O'Donnell and the rest give themselves up voluntarily in Pittsburgh, as did Burgess McLuckie. Except for this anxiety, the strikers and their sympathizers were in buoyant spirits. At O'Donnell's home everything seemed unusually bright, particularly his wife, who could be seen through the vines and flowers, going blithely about her household duties.

THE ADVICE HEADED.

The anarchists caused the strike leaders some little uneasiness by an attempt to get out more circulars, such as have been distributed, urging the militia not to be "hired butchers." It was ascertained that one of the two printing offices in town was getting out 500 of the hand bills and a member of the advisory committee took the matter in hand at once. He significantly "advised" the printer to stop right where he was in the undertaking. The advice was heeded with alacrity.

GAVE THEMSELVES UP.

Hugh O'Donnell and Hugh Ross Surrender to the Authorities.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 21.--Hugh O'Donnell and Hugh Ross against whom warrants had been issued, came to this city this morning and held a consultation with their attorney W. J. Brennan. At the close of their talk with Mr. Brennan, the two workmen proceeded to Alderman McMasters office and gave themselves up and were by him remanded to jail.

Attorney Brennan at once entered application for the release of Messrs. Ross and O'Donnell on bail. This request must be made to the judges of the county court, who have been asked by the attorney to grant an early hearing. Mr. O'Donnell, in an interview, expressed confidence in his being released on bail and his ability to ultimately prove his innocence of any crime.

BUTLER NOT ENGAGED

As Counsel for the Strikers--His Opinion of the Legal Aspect.

BOSTON, Mass., July 21.--General Butler, in speaking of the Homestead cases, said in regard to admitting on bail in a case where a murder was charged, that although bail is not as a rule allowed, still it is a matter wholly within the discretion of the courts. As to the extradition of Mr. Carnegie, General Butler said he could not see how a man could be taken in a foreign country for acts said to have been done in this country in his absence. The general was very strong in expressing his conviction that legislation should be had that would cause the disbandment of the Pinkertons and the prevention of such riots hereafter.

Personally, he had no correspondence with the strikers and had heard nothing whatever as to his being engaged as counsel.

Measures Against the Carnegies.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.--It was asserted here last night by the delegates on route to the national convention of switchmen in Pittsburgh, that resolutions will be adopted calling upon all switchmen to refuse to handle cars carrying material to and from the Carnegie works until the Carnegie company consents to terms with its men. The switchmen also say that the national carpenters union will ask its members not to use nails made by the Carnegie company.

CLEVE AND STEVE

Hold Informal Receptions at New York Hotels.

NEW YORK, July 21.--From the Whitney mansion Mr. Cleveland was this morning driven to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where parlor B on the first floor of the hotel on the Twenty-third street corner had been engaged for his accommodation. Among the first callers was Lieutenant Governor Sheelan. Following the lieutenant governor came several members of the Democratic national committee, among the number being Mr. Wm. F. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Bruce. Nearly all the members of the national committee and a good many Democrats from other states, as well as local celebrities, called about the campaign.

General Stevenson meanwhile was receiving callers at his apartments in the Hoffman House.

Clevo and Steve in Harlem.

NEW YORK, July 21.--Grover Cleveland and A. E. Stevenson smoked to-night the calumet with the Sagamores of Harlem where a reception was tendered the two leaders of the Democratic party. It was a great time for the people of Harlem, and not a Democrat in the entire district was absent. All grasped the hands of Cleveland and Stevenson, and with vigorous shakes that made the candidates occasionally wince. Mr. Cleveland made a brief speech and was loudly cheered.

DIPLOMATS NAMED.

HARRITY IS THE MAN

Who Will Run the Democratic Campaign This Year.

HE IS UNANIMOUSLY CHOSEN

At the Committee Meeting in New York and Makes a Speech in Which He Says He Will Do His Level Best, and That's All That Could Be Expected--Mr. Whitney's Plan of Organization--The Westerners Disappointed in Their Effort to Get Branch Headquarters in Chicago.

New York, July 21.--The Democratic national committee met this afternoon at the Fifth avenue hotel. The committee appointed by the state executive committee of Illinois to work for the establishment of a branch headquarters at Chicago are on the ground--They came here full of confidence, but after making a canvass of the situation found a majority opposed to the scheme. They then concluded not to press the matter before the committee to-day but to bid their time and make an appeal to the executive committee.

William F. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, was chosen chairman of the committee; S. P. Shorlin, of Indiana, was re-elected secretary and Robert H. Roosevelt, of New York, was chosen treasurer.

On assuming the chair Mr. Harrity said:

"GENTLEMEN OF THE COMMITTEE: I am extremely grateful for the distinguished honor which you have unworthily, I fear, bestowed upon me. The only return I can make at this time is to promise to use my best efforts to aid in achieving success for our party, its principles and its candidates. They deserve success. Then people expect them to win, and it will be your duty and mine to see as far as in our power it lies, that the people are not disappointed. I am deeply sensible they will not be. I am deeply sensible of the great responsibility devolving upon me as chairman of the Democratic national committee, and I am not at all ungrateful of my own shortcomings. For this reason I will need, and will not hesitate to ask, your aid and your indulgence. I am sure that I shall feel obliged to lean heavily upon the members of this committee during the conduct of the present campaign, and I am equally confident that you, each and all of you, will give me assistance and support. Gentlemen, I am prepared to entertain any suggestion, motion or resolution bearing upon the campaign upon which we have just entered. [Applause.]

On motion of Mr. Whitney, the following plan of organization was adopted:

"Resolved--That the executive committee of the Democratic national committee shall consist of twenty-five members, who shall be designated by the chairman of the national committee and the chairman of the national committee shall be ex-officio chairman of the executive committee.

"Resolved, That the campaign committee of the Democratic national committee shall consist of nine members, who shall be designated by the chairman of the national committee, and that said campaign committee when appointed shall select its own chairman from within or without the said campaign committee, or from within or without the Democratic national committee.

"Resolved, That the advisory board of the Democratic national committee, which committee the chairman of the Democratic national committee is hereby authorized to appoint from within or without the membership of the Democratic national committee, shall consist of such number of members as may be deemed proper by the campaign committee.

"Resolved, That the conduct and direction of the campaign of 1892 shall be under the charge of the campaign committee, subject to the approval of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee."

THE MARK TWAIN CLUB

Flots off to its Camp down the Ohio--An Invasion of Denwood, which Surrenders.

at a minutes past 8 o'clock, to the lively air "Boon-ta-ra Boom-to-a."

Long before the hour announced for their departure people began to gather on the wharf admiring the boat and its fine decorations until fully 1,500 people were present, when Captain William Laughlin gave the word to start, while hundreds came on board of the boat to enjoy the hospitalities and refreshments. Among these were a number of prominent city officials and numerous hustling candidates, all wishing good cheer and a lively time.

As soon as the word was passed around that everything was ready there was a general scrambling to get ashore, although fully 100 stayed aboard. "The her loss," shouted Captain Laughlin, and the rope was hauled aboard, and with the aid of half a dozen skiffs and a big craft was started towards the current. Then followed dozens of orders from all of the amateur captains, as "Let her go!" "Git off the rope!" "Hold on, boys, we forgot to untie the rope at the stern!" "Hoop la! She's all right!" "Aha! you land lubber, and give the helmsman a chance!" The genial Bob Miller roared amidst all the confusion:

"She starts, she moves, she seems to feel the thrill of life along her keel."

As soon as the boat started the band played "Ta-ra-ra Boom-to-a" in such a spirited manner that the crowd broke out in a lively cheer.

After a speedy trip of over two hours, the boat reached Denwood, where the band and visitors, headed by Mayor Seabright, disembarked and were met by Mayor Mahood, who presented the keys of the town to the boys, which were accepted by Mayor Seabright in a happy speech.

After this every one fell in line behind the band and paraded the town with red fire. They returned on a special car on the electric road, and McClellan's band, which furnished the music for the occasion, tendered a ruse to the INTELLIGENCER office, rendering some of their excellent music. Every one was enthusiastic over the fine treatment of the Mark Twain boys and were sorry to see them leave.

They expect to arrive at their camping ground to-day at noon. The officers in command were: Captain, William Laughlin; Assistant, John Rine; Commissary, Capt. Con McDonald; Cook, Nate Kuhn; General Hustler, Mark Twain John.

Sick in the Lockup.

A man who gives his name as T. F. Lafourcade, and is said to be a member of a clothing manufacturing firm of Philadelphia, has been in Wheeling several weeks, and intoxicated most of the time. He spent ten days in the City hospital under treatment, being discharged a few days ago. Last night he came to police headquarters in a pitiable condition and asked to be locked up. Lieut. Lukins accommodated him, and a little later he was found to be very ill. Dr. Spragg was called and did what he could for him. At 1 o'clock this morning he was resting easier. When sober he is a very intelligent gentleman, but has been on a protracted spree ever since he came here this time.

FLINT GLASS WORKERS

Adjourn After Electing Officers--Smith Again Chosen.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 21.--The convention of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union adjourned at noon to-day. W. J. Smith was re-elected president and W. J. Dillon secretary. An executive committee consisting of thirty-one members, representing all the different branches of the trade was also elected. Marion, Ind., was selected as the next place for holding the convention.

LOSES HIS MEMBERSHIP.

Any Member of the Window Glass Workers' Association Who Acts as a Bar-keeper.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 21.--The window glass workers had an interesting session this morning at the convention in Turner Hall, South Side. The meeting was opened by John Kelly, of Jeannette, known as the poet of L. A. 300. He had an original poem on the Homestead lockout. He was heartily applauded.

President Eberhart gave a ruling on the laws of the association pertaining to the liquor question. He said that any member going into the liquor business or acting as a bar tender in any saloon, whether it be for recompense or not, either during a blast or when the blast is out, or at any time, forfeits his membership, and can be restored to the association only through the ballot.

Resolutions were next in order and the first was carried. It was to allow the blowers one hour for meals. A resolution to have the secretary elected by popular vote was lost.

The next was under discussion when the adjournment for dinner took place. It was that on the death of a member, his widow, orphans or dependent shall receive his pro rata share of all moneys in the treasury, the president and council to determine the amount. This resolution caused a lively discussion and will be thoroughly debated on before it comes to a vote.

The convention expects to finish its work by to-morrow noon.
